Blanton pleads not guilty to murder

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — A Johnson County man accused of murdering his parents, Larry and Sandra Blanton, pleaded not guilty at his arraignment in Johnson Circuit Court Friday and his pretrial is scheduled for May 10 in Lawrence County.

William Blanton, 30, was indicted in March on two counts of murder, tampering with physical evidence and as a first-degree persistent felony offender. He was scheduled to go to trial in Lawrence County April 8 on charges associated with the case from several Oct. 17, 2012, indictments.

At Friday's arraignment, Judge John

David Preston ordered the cases combined at the request of Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Tony Skeans and the trial in Lawrence County was canceled to allow time for discovery in the case.

Blanton's attorney, Steve Goble, objected, saying that he hadn't yet seen the discovery in the case and that Blanton had been arraigned for the offenses five months apart.

"Now we know where the bodies are," Skeans said. "There was one common purpose, one common motive and one common scheme. They are interrelated and led to the same course of conduct."

Blanton was previously indicted on PRESTONSBURG — Floyd County Sheriff John K. Blackburn said Tuesday he realizes he made a mistake by making the choice to drive while under the influence and plans on apologizing publicly with a press release that will be issued today (Wednesday).

Blackburn, 62, admitted in Powell District Court April 2 that he drove under the influence and was sentenced to serve four days in jail, to lose his license for 120 days and must pay court costs.

Blackburn served his sentence in the Pike County Detention Center, entering the facility April 2 and leaving April 4, with credit for time served in the Powell County Jail.

"I realize I made a mistake and will apologize publicly, but that is all I can do," Blackburn told The Big Sandy News Tuesday. "I will just hold my head up and go on. "I plan on issuing a press release tomorrow."

Blackburn was arrested in Stanton March 17 and charged with first-offense operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol/drugs/etc. and was in a Chevrolet Tahoe registered to the sheriff's office at the time of his arrest.

Blackburn is also currently serving as the 2013 president of the Kentucky Sheriffs Association.

JOHNSON COUNTY SHERIFF Dwayne Price, his officers, the Paintsville Police Department and the Prestonsburg Police Department, as part of a joint task force, conducted a K-9 search at Johnson Central High School Tuesday. "This is one of the activities we have put in place to promote drug awareness here at Johnson Central," JCHS principal Noel Crum said. "We have experienced great success this year which we credit in large part to a positive and safe learning environment. We want our students and parents to know that we will take any necessary measures to keep our school safe and maintain a high level of achievement."

Records obtained in clerk court case

INEZ — Kentucky State Police served a search warrant April 2 in the Martin County Clerk's Office to obtain documents to supplement a case pending against former deputy clerks Tonya Mills and Tamberlyn Hairston.

According to court documents on file in the Circuit Court Clerk Office that shed more light on the case, KSP Det. Jason Dials obtained 12 folders of January to December 2012 daily checkout sheets; one folder for the 2012 General Account Bank Statement Reconciliations and Deposit tickets for the 2012 General Account of which one book dated for Jan. 1, 2012-Feb. 20, 2012 was missing.

According to Dials' statement on the search warrant, he received information from Martin County Judge-Executive Kelly Callahan on May 17, 2012, that money was suspected missing from the County Clerk's Office and there was indication that the missing money was related to an employee theft. He said that he was advised that an audit was being requested and that once an audit began, an investigation by the KSP would be requested.

On June 29, 2012, the audit

W.O.W! Johnson County to soon have animal shelter

PAINTSVILLE — A project initiated by District Judge Susan Johnson and a group of concerned citizens in 2011 to establish an animal shelter in Johnson County could soon be getting a boost, with property being made available for construction of a facility in the coming months.

"It appears that the old water plant property may be made available to us for the animal shelter once the new plant is online and running," Johnson said Monday.

"I spoke to (Paintsville Utilities Commission chairman) Mitch Kinner, who tells me that the new water plant should be online next month, and the property will be available to us a couple of months after that," Johnson said in an e-mail to members of the Whiskers or Wags (W.O.W.) organization. "He also told me that both utilities and the city are in agreement about us getting the property."

Johnson also said Monday that the Girl Scouts have also taken animal issues as their project and are working to help W.O.W. with animal rescue.

BLANTON: Not-guilty plea entered charges of forged checks (10 counts) belonging to his parents totaling $3,185.81, and attempting to fill his father's prescription at a Paintsville pharmacy.

According to the indictments, all of the charges of criminal possession of a forged instrument occurred between Sept. 3 and Sept. 14, 2012.

Blanton also allegedly took cattle and various items of scrap metal belonging to Larry Blanton with a value totaling $1,500 and is charged with prohibited acts relating to controlled substances.

Blanton was arrested Oct. 8, 2012 after he allegedly attempted to fill his father's prescription for methadone at a Paintsville pharmacy, at which time he was charged with obtaining or attempting to obtain a controlled substance without a practitioner prescription.

In March's murder indictment, Blanton allegedly "intentionally and/or wantonly with extreme indifference to the value of human life" caused the deaths of his parents, Larry and Sandra Blanton, by "inflicting blunt force injury" to their heads and bodies.

The indictment also claims he allegedly "destroyed, mutilated, concealed, removed or altered physical evidence which he believed was about to be produced or used in an official proceeding with the intent to impair its availability by attempting to destroy or conceal various items used in the commission" of the murders of Larry and Sandra Blanton by concealing their bodies.

The indictment also said he has been previously convicted of a felony on at least two separate occasions.

Goble asked that all of the persistent felony offender charges be reduced to one since the cases are being combined.

Skeans agreed, and Preston ordered Friday that the multiple charges be changed to reflect one in lieu of the fact that the cases are being combined.

Goble said previously in an interview with The Big Sandy News that if the cases were consolidated and sent to Lawrence County that he would request a change in venue because of the amount of media coverage in the case and the fact that the same media would continue covering the case.

"Lawrence County isn't for us a civil location either, because it is still covered by the same media, you have The Big Sandy News and WSAB," Goble said in a television interview. "We think that a lot of jurors will be paying attention and I would anticipate that now that the cases are joined, we would file a second motion for a change of venue."

The murder indictment was a result of a plea agreement involving Blanton's girlfriend, Amanda Fannin, who apparently helped authorities in the investigation.

Fannin was indicted last year on charges of flagrant non-support and promoting contraband. She entered a plea agreement with the commonwealth's attorney office "to provide information that the Commonwealth believes will enable them to prosecute William E. Blanton for causing the deaths of his parents, Larry and Sandra Blanton and for concealing their remains."

In the agreement, Fannin

"agrees to provide a full and complete statement concerning her total knowledge of the events surrounding the disappearance, presumed death (including manner and mechanism of death) and burial of Larry and Sandra Blanton, and agrees to provide testimony if necessary concerning her knowledge of the events."

The agreement also said "all statements given by the defendant pursuant to this agreement shall be made in the presence of her counsel and shall be recorded. Should the Defendant fail to disclose a material fact known to her, knowingly give false information, or is later discovered to have been involved in the death of Larry and Sandra Blanton, the Commonwealth and defendant are released from this agreement with any information gained by the Commonwealth useable for any purpose."

The couple's remains were found buried in an area by a barn on the couple's Oil Springs property Feb. 22.

Johnson County Coroner, J.R. Frisby, said the couple died of blunt force trauma to the head and the trunk and went on to explain that it was necessary to use dental records and a pacemaker to positively identify the couple's remains.

Frisby said the official date of death — Sept. 7, 2012 — was determined through joint investigation efforts with the Johnson County Sheriff's Office.

Larry Blanton's two daughters, Amanda Howard and Kim Borowski, were in the courtroom along with other members of the family.

"We will not do an interview until after the trial, but I will say we have mixed emotions about what is going on," Howard said. "We just want a fair trial and justice for our father and for Sandra, and we don't want to do anything that would jeopardize the case."

Johnson County Sheriff Dwayne Price said Monday that his office is continuing to investigate every clue and tip it receives in the case to ensure that everyone involved in the Blanton's murder receives justice.

Fannin was also scheduled to appear on Friday, but Price explained to the family that she wouldn't be there because they wanted to keep her and Blanton separated.

Currently Blanton is being held in the Boyd County Detention Center and Fannin is being held in the Pike County Detention Center.

CLERK: More documents obtained in deputies' case

began, Dials' statement said, and it was discovered that a second employee was also involved.

Mills and Hairston, both daughters of County Clerk Carol Sue Mills, were fired from their job by their mother in August 2012.

Dials said in the statement on the search warrant that he began his investigation on Aug. 28, 2012, and that information had been obtained that Hairston had confronted Mills over missing deposits and that she confessed to having taken the deposits but said she was going to pay them back.

"Employees with the clerk's office were interviewed in this investigation," Dials said in his statement. "Jennifer May advised that she knew that Tonya had kept out a deposit. Jennifer explained that when confronted Tonya didn't deny it. Jennifer advised that this led to an argument between Tammy and Tonya. Another worker, Susie Skyles, advised that she was present when Tonya admitted to taking the deposit. Susie advised that Tonya stated that she was in the process of borrowing the money to replace the money she had taken from the deposit. Lynette Muncy, Kelly Callahan, Carol Sue Mills are others that advised that they had been informed or had knowledge that Tonya had taken from the deposits."

Dials said in his statement that new information obtained during the audit process indicated that Hairston was also involved and that he was advised that the auditors discovered an issue with contract labor checks being written by Hairston to people who were not entitled to be paid.

Dials said in his statement that "Tammy confessed her involvement in writing at least one check in front of Kelly Callahan and was reported as stating that she was being blackmailed by Tonya."

Dials also said in his statement that Carol Sue Mills confirmed that Tammy had confessed in front of her and Callahan that she had been writing checks that she was not supposed to and that "Tammy had said she was doing it to help Tonya."

Dials said people were interviewed who reportedly received contract labor checks from the county clerk's office, including Tim Smith and Bradley Harris, who advised they had never worked for the clerk's office but checks had been written in their name.

"Vantasia Maynard advised that checks were written out in her name that she never received and said the checks were written while she was off work on leave," the statement said. "Kathy Preece and Barry Horn were others who were interviewed. Several checks were written in Kathy's name and Kathy advised that she had not done any work or received those funds. Barry Horn advised that he had done some work, but not to the extent of what was being reported on checks with his name."

Dials said in the statement that a voice mail from Hairston to Preece was obtained and in the recording Hairston told Preece that she knows she is disappointed in her and that she will leave her alone, but goes on to say that it had to do with Tonya Mills.

The recording was from Aug. 7, 2012, around the time the auditors discovered Hairston's involvement, the statement said.

Mills, 47, and Hairston, 41, were indicted in December 2012 on charges of abuse of public trust shortly after State Auditor Adam Edelen released the findings of an audit of the clerk's 2011 financial statement and found a number of problems, not only with the 2011 financial statement but also in a review of the 2012 accounts in which more than $16,000 in undeposited cash receipts were discovered.

Mills is charged with abuse of public trust over $10,000, while Hairston is charged with abuse of public trust under $10,000 and four counts of second-degree criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Mills is currently enrolled at Karen's Place, a drug rehabilitation center for women, in Lawrence County and Hairston remains free on bond.

Both women are scheduled for a final report date on Aug. 1, at which time they will decide whether to accept a plea deal or go to trial.

The final report dates were scheduled for August to allow Mills time to complete a drug rehabilitation program.

If no plea deal is reached, the two women are scheduled to go to trial Sept. 9.

*"Living in a smoke-free community protects you from heart and lung disease, stroke, and cancer of the breast and lung."

Firsthand Smoke — smoke inhaled by smokers who have increased risk of heart attack, stroke, lung and other cancers, shortness of breath, poor circulation, slow healing wounds, and decreased sense of smell and taste.

Secondhand smoke — is a mixture of smoke given off by the burning tobacco and the smoke exhaled by smokers. Five minutes of exposure makes it harder for the heart to pump blood. 20 to 30 minutes causes blood clotting and fat build up in the arteries, increasing the risk of heart attack and stroke. Two hours of exposure can speed the heart rate leading to abnormal heart rhythms, which can cause death.

Thirdhand smoke — is the tobacco toxins that remain after visible smoke has disappeared from the air. These toxins build up, coating the surface of a room. In small spaces like cars, these toxins are really heavy. Thirdhand smoke is especially dangerous to babies and small children whose developing brains are extremely sensitive to toxins. They touch everything and put their fingers in their mouths or even put their mouths on tobacco toxin surfaces.

Paintsville, Salyersville receive mini-grants

SOMERSET — Two cities in the Big Sandy region won Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) mini-grants to advance strategic planning efforts in the region as part of the latest round of grant funding presented by The Center for Rural Development.

Paintsville and Salyersville each won $10,000 mini-grants.

The city of Paintsville will use the grant funding to procure a consulting engineer to assist with the development of a conceptual recreation park plan and feasibility assessment for the Teays Branch development planning project. Based on results of surveys, the potential amount of land for the development plan will be between 30 and 50 acres.

The city of Salyersville will use its grant funding to plan downtown activities that will enhance economic development opportunities in Magoffin County. City officials will hire a consultant to complete conceptual designs for downtown beautification and enhancement.

The latest ARC grant recipients were announced

Thursday, March 28, by Lonnie Lawson, president and CEO of The Center, at an ARC Summit and awards ceremony at The Center in Somerset. Paintsville and Salyersville were among 10 communities and organizations in Southern and Eastern Kentucky to be awarded funding through The Center's Developing and Implementing Community Strategies Program.

"This ARC seed funding is vital to helping our small communities 'plan their work and work their plan,' through a challenging economy," said U.S. Congressman Harold "Hal" Rogers, guest speaker at the ARC Summit. "Our communities are working hard to make improvements and create vision, and this funding provides the kick-start they need to move forward. I commend The Center, the ARC and our local leaders for working together to make Southern and Eastern Kentucky a better place to live."

Funds can be used for either the successful creation of a strategic plan or the implementation of priority community development projects identified in existing strategic plans. All projects must be completed within a six-month period.

"This funding will assist these communities in developing or furthering plans and strategies that will help fuel positive and tangible economic and community development activity in our region for years to come," Lawson said.

Since 2005, The Center has awarded more than $577,000 in ARC mini-grant funding to communities or organizations in 21 counties across Southern and Eastern Kentucky for strategic planning efforts.

Animal Shelter Shower Benefit that will help the animals but will also help them to earn the bronze award, which is the highest award a junior Girl Scout can achieve.

Items needed include dog and cat food, collars, leashes, dog and cat treats, dog and cat toys, cages, kennels, blankets, sheets, litter, litter pans and grooming supplies.

All items being donated can be dropped off at several locations, including the Paintsville Fire Department, Paintsville Recreation Center, Highland Veterinary Clinic, The Big Sandy News, The Paintsville Herald, Paintsville Elementary School, Central Elementary School, the Johnson County Sheriff's Office and Paintsville City Hall.

Monetary donations can be made by making checks payable to Whiskers or Wags Animal Rescue, P.O. Box 1313, Paintsville, Ky. 41240 and all donations are tax deductible.

Johnson said the organization has also begun rescue and placement of animals picked up by the county animal control officer so that they are not transported to a "high kill shelter" in another county.

Several fundraisers are being planned.

"The first fundraiser is a barbeque dinner, music and silent auction that will be held at the Country Club on April 27 at 7 p.m.," Johnson said. "We will also be participating at Spring Fling with a Town Mascot contest and booth."

Johnson said in an interview with the BSN last year that Johnson County took 800 animals to Greenup County in 2011 and Martin County took 600, and while the counties are following the law, the organization wants to help the animals that have been abandoned and abused.

"We think we can help them find a forever home," Johnson said last year. "I know the hearts of people and I know they want to help."

People enrolled in drug court have also helped with the organization and during a drug court graduation, Johnson recently identified a man who successfully completed drug court that had volunteered his services to design the organization's logo.

Anyone interested in contributing to the organization, volunteering or wanting additional information can call (606) 789-6049.

SHERIFF: Blackburn to issue public apology

According to the police report, Stanton police officer Billy Rice received a call from Powell County dispatch of a Tahoe driving recklessly on the Mountain Parkway and was notified that the person calling was behind the vehicle and continuing to follow him.

"I observed the vehicle around the 25 mile marker, (EB Mountain Parkway), and observed the vehicle crossing the right fog line, nearly striking the guardrail, returning to the east bound lane and then over the center line several times," Rice said in the report. "After stopping the vehicle I spoke with the operator. He seemed to speak slowly, had blood shot eyes and smelled the odor of an alcoholic beverage."

Blackburn originally said in the arrest report that he had only drank water and was weaving because of talking on his cell phone.

Blackburn registered .202 on a Breathalyzer test.

"The operator finally stated that he was coming from a casino and had consumed alcoholic beverages earlier in the day," the arrest report said.

After being taken into custody, Blackburn was transported to the Powell County Detention Center, where he was later released on a $2,500 surety bond.

IN LOVING MEMORY
Hazel Mae Wilks Chaffin

Nov. 9, 1940-April 9, 2007

*Six years ago, on a warm spring day
God picked a beautiful rose for his bouquet.
Frail and fragile, yet splendid and devine.
He chose one from which His light did shine.
Adorned her with beauty, and dressed in array
She's waiting there to meet us,
One glorious day.*

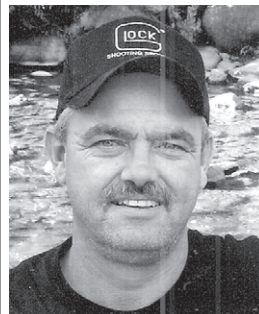

Sadly missed by husband,
Ora E. Chaffin, and family

IN MEMORY OF
Tommy Lee "Tombo" Boyd, Jr.

April 10, 1970-Dec. 6, 2012

PLEASE DON'T CRY

Please don't cry because I'm gone,
For I am just "away."
I did not die and never will,
I'm with you every day.

It's true that I have left the earth,
And live in spirit here.
With a peace and love I can't explain,
I'm happy, have no fear.
Who I was, I still am now,
Even better than before.
Heaven holds such beauty here,
With mountains, trees, and more.

Please don't cry, just speak of me the way you
Used to do,
Make our memories happy ones,
That hug and comfort you.
Remember me with happiness,
don't grieve because I'm gone.
In heaven I am growing still and my life continues on.
Please don't cry because I share all you say and do,
In every moment of every day, my love is with you, too.

*Happy Birthday. We love and miss you.
Mom, Connie; Dad, Tommy; wife, Bonnie; daughter, Laura; son-in-law, Cody; granddaughter, McKenzie;
family, and many friends.*

6 keyboard shortcuts every computer user must know

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

The great thing about computers is that they can work much faster than you can. But telling them what to do is often a slow process. Well, there's a fix.

I'm talking about keyboard shortcuts. To perform a keyboard shortcut, you press two, three or sometimes four keyboard keys at once. A single, quick shortcut can accomplish the same thing as moving your mouse across the screen and clicking through several menus or hunting down buttons.

There are dozens of them, from pressing Ctrl+A to select everything in a window to pressing Ctrl+B to make selected text bold. Press Ctrl+F to find a word in a document or web page. When you want to print something, press Ctrl+P. (Most of the shortcuts are the same on a Mac, except you use the CMD key instead of the CTRL key.)

The six shortcuts below are the most essential to know, however. Get in the habit of using them, and your mouse will soon start collecting dust!

CTRL+S (Save)

The first thing I stress to anyone learning to use a computer is SAVE YOUR WORK OFTEN! You never know when the program you're using, or your entire computer, is going to crash.

For the last decade, many programs have included auto-save features that save your work every 5 to 10 minutes. That's fine as a last resort, but I still prefer to make a habit of manual saving. It comes in handy when you use programs that don't have auto-save.

That's why the CTRL+S shortcut is so handy. It works in nearly every program in existence and takes only a fraction of a second to type. You don't have to take your hands off the keyboard and move the mouse cursor up to the Save icon.

When writing, I generally press CTRL+S after every few paragraphs I type or whenever I pause for a new thought.

CTRL+Z (Undo)

One of the best things about using a computer for content creation is the Undo feature. With a typewriter, handwriting or traditional photo manipulation, undoing a mistake is a major process.

With a computer, the Undo button gives you the freedom to experiment and make mistakes, and then change things back if you don't like it. I use it all the time when editing photos.

Many computer users don't even realize the Undo feature exists.

Using the CTRL+Z shortcut, you can undo a mistake very quickly. Hitting CTRL+Z several times will often undo the last several changes. If you go too far back, hit CTRL+Y to Redo.

CTRL+C (Copy), CTRL+V (Paste)

Another joy of using a computer is copying and pasting. It makes moving text, photos, files, folders and everything else a breeze.

Every program has Copy and Paste icons, and if you right-click on files and folders in Windows, you'll see Copy and Paste as options. For those who do a lot of copying and pasting, however, the keyboard shortcuts are a big time-saver.

Just use the mouse to select what you want to copy, hit CTRL+C, click

Dealership wins President's Award

PRESTONSBURG — Thanks to its customers, Mann Toyota of Prestonsburg recently received the 2012 Toyota President's Award, one of the highest honors for a Toyota dealership and only awarded to those that have demonstrated a commitment to maintaining Toyota's high standards.

It's also a symbol of "our continuing dedication to satisfying our customers — from the day you buy a Toyota and for as long as you own it," according to a press release from Mann Toyota.

"We are very proud to have accomplished this tremendous achievement," Ron Blackburn, general manager of Mann Toyota, said. "My hat is off to everyone here at the dealership because their efforts in all departments helped win this award."

"One of Toyota's primary goals is to emphasize the entire ownership experience, and here at Mann Toyota, we walk that talk," sales manager Brad Perry said. "We want to make sure that our customers are satisfied not only at the time of purchase, but as long as they own their vehicle." Offering "top quality car and trucks is, of course, the first step, but only the beginning," the press release said. "From every department and every person at our dealership, we thank you. Please stop by soon and see the award our customers helped us receive."

Mann's new showroom is located at 1811 U.S. 23 in Prestonsburg.

BECKY WALKER, VOLUNTEER and member of the Relay for Life State Leadership Council, spoke at the Johnson County Relay For Life Planning Committee meeting March 21.

Relay committee holds meeting

JOHNSON COUNTY RELAY FOR LIFE

PAINTSVILLE — Johnson County's Relay For Life Planning Committee met March 21.

Guest speaker for the group was Becky Walker, volunteer and member of the Relay For Life State Leadership Council.

"These are exciting times in which we are volunteering for the American Cancer Society," Walker told the group.

The overall death rate from cancer has dropped 20 percent from its peak in 1991. This means that 1.2 million cancer deaths have been prevented, or 1.2 million people are still alive today to celebrate more birthdays. This is very promising news that we are winning the war on cancer that we began 100 years ago.

The overall number of cancer cases are declining for most types of cancer.

This May, we will celebrate the 100th birthday of the American Cancer Society. Over the last 100 years, because of the work of great volunteers like you, we have been able to make some tremendous breakthroughs in the fight against cancer.

We've found the link between tobacco use and lung cancer.

We've discovered the link between obesity and cancer, heart disease, and diabetes.

We've funded 46 researchers who have gone on to win the Nobel Prize.

We have played a role in nearly every major breakthrough against cancer in recent years.

We are able to answer more than 1 million calls per year through our call center.

We are able to offer services and support to nearly 14 million cancer survivors.

When you're asked, "Where does the money go?" these are some of the facts that you can share with potential donors and other volunteers.

Walker welcomed five new volunteer teams to the Johnson County event and expressed appreciation for the veteran teams, stating "I want to say thank you — thanks for returning and bringing stability and experience to our cause. We couldn't continue to raise the money we raise if not for our returning teams. Thank you. We are grateful for your support and the funds that you raise for our Relay For Life effort. We hope that you will continue to support us as, together, we all finish the fight and declare victory over cancer. Now is the time to finish this fight we began 100 years ago and to make some noise by taking action now."

Volunteers, relay teams and committees are welcome to attend the next meeting for planning at First Christian Church in Paintsville (back entrance) on April 25 at 5:30 p.m.

Career Fair held at Paintsville High

PAINTSVILLE — On Wednesday, March 27, Paintsville High School hosted its first Career Fair.

The event, part of the Kentucky Department of Education Operation Preparation initiative, gave a chance for students in grades 7-12 to hear information about various occupations and ask questions of people who work in those fields.

PHS students were first surveyed on careers that interested them and that they would consider pursuing. Counselors Beverly Martin and Ann Samons, along with Youth Service Center Director Elizabeth Bruner, then contacted local residents in these occupations and invited them to be presenters. Students then received a Career Fair “schedule” so they could attend sessions at the occupations that interested them.

During the afternoon-long event, students were able to hear about skills needed, education required, as well as benefits/drawbacks of various occupations. They were also able to ask questions from the “experts” who actually do those jobs on a daily basis.

Occupation presenters were physical therapists Gwen Hall and Robin O'Bryan; psychologist: Joanna Conley; chef/restaurant owner Christian Clark; radiologist/ultrasound technician Morghan Slone; pediatrician Dr. Leslie Dotson and staff; engineers Dr. Ken Fuller and Dr. Toufic Saad; family practitioner Dr. Dustin Devers; author Bryan Auxier; Justin Lewandoski on military careers; physician assistant Melissa Morey; obstetrician Dr. Johanna Santiesteban; lawyers Dan Scott and Matt Runyon; registered nurse Rhonda Adkins; musician James Whited; pharmacist Tammy Maynard; bankers Joe Porter and Sherrie Hackney; dietician Sherry Blair; professional athlete: Johnny Lemaster; funeral home director Mike Preston; cosmetologist Bobbi Meredith; electrician/plumbers Chet Griffith and Jason Price; police officer Steve Sluss; fire marshall Mike Wiley; veterinarian Dr. Julie Miller; educators Teresa Petot, Matt King and Renae Plaxico; and dentist Dr. Greg Coleman.

the mouse where you want to paste, and hit CTRL+V. You're done!

Bonus tip: In cases where you want to move something instead of copy it, use CTRL+X (Cut) instead of CTRL+C.

CTRL++(Zoom in) Thanks to larger, high-resolution monitors for laptops and desktops, many websites and programs are hard to read. The text just looks too small.

Instead of moving closer to the screen and squinting, hit CTRL++ (that's a plus sign) a few times. This will increase the zoom level in most browsers and some programs. To zoom out again, just hit CTRL+- (that's a minus sign). To reset the zoom level to 100 percent, hit CTRL+0 (that's a zero).

Bonus tip: If you already have one hand on your mouse, you can also hold CTRL and scroll the mouse wheel to zoom in and out.

CTRL+ALT+DEL (also known as “the 3-finger salute”) or CMD+OPT+ESC (OS X)

Years ago, this was the first keyboard shortcut most people learned. In the olden days of computers, it rebooted your computer if it was acting up, which happened quite a bit. You could solve a lot of problems with these three keys.

Bonus history: CTRL+ALT+DEL was first added to computers in the '80s by David Bradley, an engineer at IBM. He wanted a quick way to reboot test systems that were locked. Ironically, he never intended for the public to actually use it.

In modern computers, CTRL+ALT+DEL either brings up Windows Task Manager, or a list of options including Task Manager. Task Manager is useful for killing programs that are acting up or unresponsive. Plus, you can see what is slowing down your system.

If you are using a Mac, it's not uncommon for programs to freeze and you get to see the spinning beach ball of death. When this happens, press the CMD+OPT+ESC keys, select the offending program and force quit. Restart the program and you're on your way again.

MOREHEAD — One day after hitting four home runs and scoring 18 runs, Eastern Kentucky took it up a notch on Sunday.

The Colonels hit eight home runs and had eight doubles in a 30-14 victory at Morehead State.

EKU (9-19, 5-7) outscored the Eagles (9-22, 4-11) 53-24 while sweeping the three-game series. The Colonels have now won four straight games.

Eastern totaled 33 hits with 12 Colonels registering at least one and nine driving in at least one run. Shaun Ball and Kyle Nowlin each hit two home runs.

Nowlin went 5-for-6 with five runs scored and three RBIs. Alex Hughes was 4-for-4 with five runs scored. Teegarden drove in seven runners while going 3-for-7 with three runs scored. Ball finished 3-for-7 with five RBI and two runs scored. Grisham went 3-for-6 with five RBI and four runs scored.

The Colonels scored in each of the first three innings to take a 9-0 lead. Ball followed a walk by Soloman with a 2-run homer in the first. Ball and Nowlin each had 2-run shots in the 4-run third inning. Teegarden had a bases clearing double in a 4-run fifth inning that put the visitors on top 13-2.

Morehead State plated six in the bottom of the fifth and three more in the sixth to close the gap to 15-11, but that is as close as the Eagles would get. Eastern Kentucky scored seven in the seventh to put the game out of reach. Nowlin hit his second home run of the game, a solo shot, Grisham had a 2-run double and Teegarden smacked a 2-run homer in the big inning.

Paintsville High School graduate Shane Grimm (3-3) started for EKU and earned the win despite allowing eight runs on eight hits in five innings. He walked three and struck out four. Matt Anderson (0-4) suffered the loss after giving up nine runs on nine hits in two-plus innings.

Taylor Pickens, Brandon Rawe and Bobby Burns each had three hits and each drove in three runs for Morehead State.

The Colonels are scheduled to play a non-conference game at Ohio on Wednesday at 6 p.m. before hosting Tennessee-Martin next weekend at Turkey Hughes Field.
